Admissions Guide for non-EU Undergraduate Applications

Trinity College Dublin, the University of Dublin, welcomes applications from students from all over the world. What we look for in your application depends on the education system you are coming from, as well as the Trinity programme you are applying for. This guide will help you to identify what the requirements will be for you.

To be admitted to an undergraduate programme at Trinity, you must meet four categories of requirement:

1. Minimum entry requirements for the University
2. Subject-specific requirements for the programme
3. Overall competitive requirements for the programme
4. Additional requirements

1. Minimum Entry Requirements for the University

Minimum entry requirements are the basic criteria you must meet to be considered for admission to Trinity. This includes a full set of 6 valid subjects from your high school or secondary examination system. If you did not study 6 subjects in your final year of high school, you can use additional subjects from Year 10 or later.

You must also have pass grades in English and Mathematics at Year 10 or later. Year 10 is equivalent to the GCE Ordinary Level, Indian Standard 10, High School 10th Grade, etc.

Most applicants must also have a pass grade in a language other than English at Year 10 (GCE Ordinary Level, High School 10th Grade, etc.) or later. This requirement may not apply to applicants who need a standardised English language qualification (e.g. TOEFL, IELTS, Pearson test of English, see 4. Additional Requirements, below) because they received their high school or secondary education in a country where English is not the primary language.

For more details on Minimum Entry Requirements for the Leaving Certificate or A-levels, see www.tcd.ie/study/apply/admission-requirements/undergraduate

2. Subject-Specific Requirements for the Programme

Some programmes require that you have studied specific subjects in your high school or secondary education and achieved certain grades in those subjects. For example, Theoretical Physics requires both Mathematics and Physics, whereas programmes like Psychology or Law have no specific subject requirements.

To see what subjects are required for each programme, see Table 4. To see what subjects are included in the Science Groups (A, B, C and D), refer to Table 2.

Subject requirements have a level 1 to 5, representing the grade required. To see what these levels mean in your examination system, see Table 1. If your examination system is not listed on this table, please contact international@tcd.ie, and check if it is accepted for admission to the Trinity International Foundation Programme (see Trinity International Foundation Programme section, page 18).

3. Overall Competitive Requirements for the Programme

To meet the competitive requirements for a programme, the overall result in your final high school or secondary examinations must meet a certain band: 1, 2 or 3. To see what these bands mean in your system, refer to Table 3. Some examination systems have an additional "Special" band if they are accepted for admission to restricted programmes: Medicine and Dental Science.

You can see which band applies to each programme in Table 4.

If your examination system is not on Table 3, please contact international@tcd.ie, and check if it is accepted for admission to the Trinity International Foundation Programme (see Trinity International Foundation Programme section, page 18).

Trinity College Dublin, the University of Dublin, welcomes applications from students from all over the world.

Admissions Guide for Postgraduate Applications

Application Process

Entry to Irish universities is competitive, and no graduate applicant, from Ireland or any other country has an automatic right to admission. Most courses at Trinity have a restricted number of places available for postgraduate students.

The range of studies on offer is vast and the standard set for postgraduate study is exceptionally high. This combination, together with the range of ancillary facilities in the immediate vicinity of the University, offers an almost unparalleled learning experience to all postgraduate students.

Online Applications

All course information and online application details are available at www.tcd.ie/courses/postgraduate

To apply to a course, find the course page from the link above, and click Apply.

Throughout the application and admission process, communications between Trinity and the applicant will primarily be via online messaging within the my.tcd.ie portal, and via email. Postgraduate Research at Trinity College Dublin, the University of Dublin

Trinity is recognised as one of the world's leading research-intensive universities and its research continues to address issues of global, societal and economic importance.

Trinity has research strengths that span the Sciences, Medicine, Engineering, Business, Arts and Humanities, a spectrum that is mirrored by our broad range of taught postgraduate courses and research opportunities at masters and doctorate level.

Applying for a Master's by Research or Ph.D. at Trinity

As a truly international university, we welcome applications from prospective postgraduate students globally and we hope you will consider choosing Trinity for your postgraduate research.

1. Find a Potential Academic Supervisor

As Ireland's leading university for research Trinity offers ample opportunities for postgraduate research. To find out more you should explore Trinity's research areas and determine your subject area of interest. The next step is to make contact with academic staff in relevant fields and identify a potential supervisor. To assist you with both steps, the Trinity website is comprehensive and features all relevant information about our research activities, as well as full research profiles of our staff.

Trinity Research:
www.tcd.ie/research

Research by Faculty:
www.tcd.ie/structure

Search for expertise:
www.tcd.ie/research/people

2. Make Contact with Potential Academic Supervisor

Contact potential academic supervisors with a brief research proposal or idea, demonstrating your interest and relevant experience in the research area. If an academic staff member is willing to support your application for a Ph.D. position, they will direct you to the school's online application page. Please note that some schools at Trinity have specific guidelines for applying for a Ph.D. position. It is important to check the Schools' webpage for any additional information at: www.tcd.ie/courses/postgraduate/research/az.php

3. Submit your Application

"My Erasmus year in Prague helped me develop important life skills such as confidence in my ability to meet challenges. I emerged from my Erasmus year with a deeper understanding of myself. As a student of the liberal arts, the city's artistic and architectural heritage and its complex political history helped me understand the relationships between a place, its history, and its people. I'm now working as an Architectural Historian/Historic Preservation Specialist at Logan Simpson in the US."

Some courses also have shorter-term international field trips available as elective modules. Student Life at Trinity Immerse yourself in a broad range of sports clubs and student societies and get a real sense of the 'Trinity Experience'.

Your first days at Trinity

Freshers' Week

Trinity offers orientation to all new postgraduate and undergraduate students prior to the start of the academic year. This week of orientation is known as Freshers' Week. There are no classes, so it's all about meeting your new classmates, student support information sessions, seeing what sports clubs and societies you want to join, meeting your student mentor who will give you a tour of campus and organise social events, meeting your tutor who will provide support to you throughout your years in Trinity, and of course, the Freshers' Ball.

During Freshers' Week you can also meet people from the Sports Centre, the Library and Student Supports and Services. These are the services whose job it is to make sure that you get the best out of your time in Trinity.
www.tcd.ie/students/orientation

A specific International Postgraduate Student Orientation takes place before teaching commences. Details are available at: www.tcd.ie/students/orientation/postgraduates

Deniz Unsal – Turkey

Postgraduate: International and Comparative Law (LLM)

"I chose Trinity due to its unique historical legacy. The Old Library containing the Book of Kells and the Campanile are spectacular places on campus. The most enjoyable part of my experience in Ireland is Trinity's multicultural and multidisciplinary environment. Trinity offers an academic environment where students from various countries and disciplines come together."

What Happens After Freshers' Week?

After the excitement of Freshers' Week, teaching starts and you get a chance to settle into your course. Most classes are a mixture of lectures and tutorials and some have practicals as well. The tutorials are less formal and give you a chance to explore and discuss the topics covered in lectures with your classmates and teaching assistants.

Your class representative and your mentors organise events throughout the year that give you further opportunities to get to know your classmates.

Trinity in Twelve Weeks

The "Trinity in Twelve Weeks" virtual programme aims to continue your orientation during your first semester and help your transition to university life. The programme has a new theme every week, from study and exam skills to how to look after yourself while at university. Your mentors will be in touch with you every week to let you know what the week's theme is and to arrange events and activities.
Find out more at:
www.tcd.ie/students/orientation/twelve-weeks

Please note that a hybrid of virtual and face to face supports may still be in place for 2022 entry due to Covid-19. Further information will be available closer to your time of arrival.
Student Entertainment

University life is about so much more than just education and nowhere is this more evident than at Trinity. The University sits in the heart of Dublin city where there are endless extracurricular and recreational opportunities. You can immerse yourself in a broad range of sports clubs and student societies and through these activities you will get a real sense of the 'Trinity Experience', something that extends far beyond lectures, tutorials and exams.

You will also have the benefit of one of the best Students' Unions in the country, providing students with a wide range of entertainment and events throughout your time in Trinity.

Student Societies

At Trinity, we have 120 student societies which constitute some of the most dynamic and active university student societies in Ireland with everything from the Animation Society to the Zoological Society. We are home to the world's oldest student societies, the 'Hist' or Historical Society founded in 1770 and the 'Phil' which is the oldest debating society in the world, founded in 1683, and whose guests have included everyone from Hollywood heavyweights such as Martin Scorsese to International Space Station commander Chris Hadfield.
