MASTER'S STUDENT IN ECONOMICS
 "The Master's programme at Radboud University has significantly contributed to my personal and professional development. The perspective from many other international students as well as from the lecturers gave me a better understanding about how the real world works at a global scale. During my study, lecturers actively invited professionals to share their knowledge about the industry they work in and real-life case studies are occasionally given to students. That presents students with the opportunity to showcase their skills to the guest lecturers as well as receive constructive feedback, which is essential for student's professional development. Studying a Master's programme at Radboud University is one of my best decisions!"
